1. Pick your pattern

The pattern of your wooden floor is an important choice. Herringbone, chevron, regular planks, alternating widths or Versailles... Just like the colour and selection, a specific pattern will significantly determine the look and feel of your interior. Choose wisely!

3b. Pick your finish

01.

BRUSHED

Do you like a distinctive structure and a strong wood grain? Then brushed planks may be just the thing for you! The planks are thoroughly worked with a steel brush, which removes the soft tissue and makes the grain appear stronger.

02.

AGED

Aged planks will give your interior a tad more authenticity.

The planks are tumbled together with nails and gravel, which causes superficial scratches and small pits on the surface. This results in a characteristic, weathered floor.

03.

BAND SAW EFFECT

If you are looking for a rather rough and artisanal look, the band saw effect might be exactly what you need. The band saw creates fine lines on the surface of the planks, which results in an artisanal touch. Almost as if your planks are coming straight from the atelier.

04.

COLOURED BEVELS

Do you prefer a dark coloured floor? In that case it might be a good idea to have the bevels coloured.

That way the uncoloured bevels are nicely covered and you can enjoy a perfectly even and smooth floor after installation.
